Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

Claims 1, 5, and 10-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Dubeta U.S. Patent 6,743,107.

Dubeta disclosed a narrow inlet slide section (312) having opposite sidewalls defining a first narrow, downhill path from a high elevation (304) at a first end portion to a lower elevation (318) at a second end thereof, the inlet slide section having a rider entrance (304) at its first end portion at the high elevation; an elongated exit slide (342) having a slide surface separate and distinct from the inlet slide section from a high elevation (350) at a first end thereof, the exit slide having a rider entrance (352) opening, the exit slide being much wider than the narrow inlet slide section, the inlet side section second end portion (318) communicating through the exit slide entrance opening, the inlet slide section and exit slide being constructed and arranged relatively such that a rider is introduced at an angle to the length of the exit slide and through the exit slide entrance opening from the narrow inlet slide section onto the wider exit slide for sliding of the rider (310) along an upward extending portion (350) of the exit slide for deceleration of the rider followed by travel of the rider downward (353) along the exit slide, the inlet slide section is angled relative to the length of the exit slide and arranged such that a rider is introduced onto the exit slide at a location between the exit slide first and second end portions and toward the first end portion for allowing twists and turns of a rider after being propelled out of the narrow inlet slide section as shown in Figs. 16-23.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3, 4, 6-9 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Kien T. Nguyen whose telephone number is (571) 272-4428. The examiner can normally be reached on 7:30 AM-5:00 PM.
